Howard University School of Business MBA

Accounting MBA

The five-year accounting degree program restricted to Howard University undergraduate accounting majors who graduated May 1997 or later. In addition to the core course curriculum requirement, a student must complete 15 credit hours of elective/concentration courses. The elective courses available in the area of Accounting are:GACC-502, GACC-503, GACC-504.

Accounting Concentration Course Descriptions

GACC-502. Accounting Practicum. 3 crs.

Students will gain practical experience in the field of accounting through employment and internships. They will also engage in writing and presenting papers on the practice of accounting and the skills needed in the accounting profession.

Prerequisite: Open only to MBA students admitted to the program for a concentration in Accounting.

GACC-503. Seminar in Accounting. 3 crs.

In-depth coverage of existing and emerging areas in accounting including global accounting, control systems, auditing, assurance services, and information technology. Guest speakers from all facets of accounting practice (public, private, governmental, profit, not-for-profit), standard setting bodies, and the academy will present their ideas of business, government, and accounting.

Prerequisite: Open only to MBA students admitted to the program for a concentration in Accounting.

GACC-504. Special Topics in Accounting. 3 crs.

This course will include coverage of international accounting, ethical and legal issues in accounting, and topics in accounting measurement and disclosure. Topics may vary from semester to semester to deal with contemporary issues in accounting.

Prorequisite: GACC 501. Open only to MPA students admitted to the program for a

Prerequisite: GACC-501. Open only to MBA students admitted to the program for a concentration in Accounting or with permission of the Accounting Chairperson.

Email the Office of Graduate Programs: mba_bschool@howard.edu